

Emotion has a substantial influence on the cognitive processes in humans, including perception, attention, learning,